Millionaire Says He Never Signed Paper Used by Mrs. Chadwick to Secure Loan of $100,000 from Oberlin Bank Though It Bears His Name.

Attorney for the Woman Accused of Being a Once Notorious Criminal Promises Statement by Friday-Tried to Borrow $200,000 in New York.

Andrew Carnegie to-day denied that he had ever had any business dealings with Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, yet the attorney for one of her creditors declares that the note for $500,000 which he deposited in a bank at Oberlin, O., as security for a loan is signed "Andrew Carnegie."

Mrs. Chadwick could not be seen to-day. She is still in the city and is believed to be at the Holland House, despite her ostentatious departure from there yesterday.

As the magnitude and extent of Mrs. Chadwick's operations in paper develops it becomes apparent that not only ranking institutions have been hard hit, but that many wealthy individuals, who either went on the paper she deposited as collateral or accepted the security she offered for Boans of large sums of money, are involved to a tremendous extent.

There was a conference last night, which lasted until almost midnight of Mrs. Chadwick's creditors who are in the city at present or who have flegal representatives here, and one result of this conference was to have the receivership proceedings, which were begun to Cleveland to-day, adjourned until Thursday, Mrs. Chadwick's attorneys hoping in the mean time to adjust her affairs so they will be in a position to make some kind of a state-

FULL EXTENT OF OPERATIONS NOT KNOWN

They admit that at present everything is in chaos, and out of this con ference has grown a feeling that, large as Mrs. Chadwick's operations are at present known to have been, only the surface has been scratched.

Last night's conierence was held at the offices of Daggett & Ryall No. 309 Broadway, and was presided over by George E. Ryall, the New York attorney for Herbert D. Newton, of Brookline, Mass., who is suing Mrs. Chadwick for the recovery of $190,800 he loaned her on notes. Mr. Ryall to-day issued the following statement:

"There was a conference at my office last night at which were present Mr. Newton, Mr. Carver, of Boston, Judge John Albaugh, of Canton, of SECOND RACE-Applaud (11. councel for Mrs. Chadwick, and myself. On behalf of Mrs. Chadwick. Judge 20) 1, Hawtrey (10 to 1) 2, Albaugh requested that the receivership proceedings be put on until Friday, at which time he wid have her affairs in some kind of shape. This was agreed to and Mr. Newton and Mr. Carver went back to Boston on a late Woo!gatherer (5 to 2) 2, Walter train. CARNEGIE DENIES SIGNING ANY NOTE.

"Mr. Newton said that he had seen a note for $500,000 which was given by Mrs. Chadwick as collateral for a loan from the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin, O., which fatled yesterday. My client told me that this note carried the signature: 'Andrew Carnegie.' This will have to come out sooner or later, so I tell it now."

Andrew Carnegie declined to be seen to-day, but when a note was sent to him explaining that report had it that his name was on the $500,000 note deposited with the Oberlin hank by Mrs. Chadwick he authorized his secretary to make the following statement:

"I have read this report and pronounce it absurd. I know nothing of this woman or her dealings and have had no business relations with her." At the present time none of the holders of Mrr. Chadwick's paper seem

The players succeeded in selecting the right one of the bunch of twelve maiden two-year-old fillies in the second rac. Simplicity was made favorite and retained that distinction, in soite of the steady play on the Eastern filly Idle Tears. In a rather ragged start Simplicity, gazed into the lead and, opening a big gap in the first sixteenth, kept her advantage to the end. Lady Constitution proved to be best of the others and alle Tears, after an inauspicious beginning, dropped into third place.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29 .- The city this afternoon has taken on the appearance of a holiday. Crowds have arrived from all the towns within twelve hours' ride and are waiting for the opening of Woodward's Pavilion where Young Corbett and "Battling" Nelson fight to-night.

The advance sale of tickets for the fight has been unusually large, and the prospects are that when the men step into the ring they will face one of the largest crowds that has ever attended a fight in this city.

Young Corbett is in town and has put up at the Palace Hotel with his staff of trainers. Nelson is on his way to the city from Larkspur, where he has been training. The Loys are in great shape and ready to weigh in. I claim that they are at the stipulated weight of 130 pounds, and be brimful of confidence and anxious for the bell that will start them on their twenty-round lourney. The fight promises to be the most vicious that the fight fans of "Friedo have ever witnessed. The men realize that they must win to save the selves from the ride on the toboggan. Corbett will fight the battle of his life, as a victory over Nelson insures a return fight with his rival, James Edward Britt. Corbett has staked his all on his fight with Nelson, and his FIFTH RACE—Hymettus (7 to 5) claim is that the Dane will take the count long before the twentieth rou

CORBETT, 2 TO 1 FAVORITE. Betting on the fight has assumed marvellous proportions, the ke terest in the outcome, together with Corbett being a favorite with the sports here, has made him a 2 to 1 choice in the betting. A large con reached here this morning from New York to be placed on Corbett at the best odds. It is rumored here that the money was sent by Harry Pollol and George Considine. Nelson has bet all the money that he could beg and borrow. To him the fight is a foregone conclusion. He thinks he will be the next one to face
